DEBATE OVER RESERVATIONS IN CHARTER

Sen. Vandenberg Pounces Hotly on First Hint of Move to Write Change Into Treaty

REPLIES TO MILLIKIN

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) today pounced hotly on the first hint of a move to write troop-use reservations into the United Nations charter.

Vigorously, Vandenberg declared that congress should have nothing to say about the employment of troops ordered by the Security Council.

The question was raised by Senator Millikin (R-Col.), the most searching inquirer thus far of the foreign relations committee hearings which went into their second day.

Millikin asked repeatedly if it would violate the charter for the United States, say the president or congress, to reserve its judgment in each instance rather than vote full permission for the Security Council to order troops into action when an act of aggression threatens the peace.

"If we require the consent of congress for the use of troops, it would violate not only the spirit of the charter, but the constitution of the United States," Vandenberg asserted.

"The president has the right to employ troops. It has been used 72 times in 150 years. We are merely writing into the charter the constitutional practices of 150 years."

Millikin said that raises the question of the ultimate authority of the American delegate and "is it not time to meet that issue head-on now, not when the implementing statutes come up?"

"The president has the right to employ troops. It has been used 72 times in 150 years. We are merely writing into the charter the constitutional practices of 150 years."

Pvt. Clarence V. Bertucci, above, 23, of New Orleans, veteran of 4½ years' Army service, is accused of having fired a machine gun at tents of sleeping German prisoners of war at Salamina, Utah, killing eight and wounding 20. At loss to explain the soldier's actions, Army officials said he apparently "went berserk."

Fort Douglas, Utah, July 10—(AP)—Why an American soldier yielded to an impulse, which an Army officer said he admitted often had tempted him—to spray a German prisoner of war camp with machinegun bullets, was the question before investigating authorities today. Pvt. Clarence V. Bertucci, 23, of New Orleans, La., named by Col. Arthur J. Erickson as the slayer of eight Germans at the Salamina, Utah, war prisoner camp, was under observation in a hospital mental ward here. Twenty others were wounded.

PLAN WAR ON FOOD BLACK MARKETEERS

New Secretary of Agriculture Joining Forces With OPA to Crack Down On Violators

SPREAD PROCUREMENT

Washington, July 10—(AP)—New government crackdowns on food black marketeers impended from three directions today.

Clinton P. Anderson, new secretary of agriculture, let it be known that he is "joining forces with OPA" for the purpose. At the same time the house food investigating committee promised to "investigate and expose" illicit operations that menace the nation's diet.

A ranking official in Anderson's department said the new cabinet officer already has had several conferences with Price Administrator Chester Bowles and his OPA lieutenants.

The objective, said the official who asked that his name not be used, "is an attempt to plug up the holes and gaps that give rise to the black market."

Anderson, he said, also is taking steps to equalize distribution of such scarce commodities as meat on the assumption that unequal supplies spur black market trade. As a result, he added, plans are being prepared to spread the poultry procurement program now concentrated principally in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Under this arrangement, the areas in which poultry is set aside for government (primarily army) use would be extended westward to ease the burden on eastern states.

In another move, Anderson announced last night that regulations are being prepared to permit no-federally inspected slaughterers to comply with the so-called Patman amendment of the recently extended price control act.

This would permit them to ship meat across state lines and to sell to the armed forces. About one-third of the meat now being processed is handled by such packers.

Anderson said requirements for certification will include assurances that OPA regulations are observed, that meat will move in legitimate channels, that plants meet certain sanitary standards, that their output be supervised by qualified inspectors and that they provide meat for government agencies when requested to do so.

NEARLY 2,000 U. S. PLANES SWEEPING UNCHALLENGED OVER JAPAN IN RECORD BLOW

More Than 1,000 Aircraft From Powerful Third Fleet Lying Southeast of Capital Bomb and Strafe Nearly 80 Airdromes

3,500 TONS DUMPED ON FIVE INDUSTRIAL CITIES

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Record waves of close to 2,000 American planes swept Japan with destruction and fire today in the Pacific war's heaviest blow, which Tokyo radio described as "the first step of aggression."

Tokyo commented the absence of invasion troops didn't lessen the significance of the almost unopposed attack from carrier planes, Superforts and land-based fighters and bombers.

As the multiple air strike was getting under way the world's most experienced amphibious officer declared U. S. assault waves could land on Japan any time they wanted.

The attack centered on Tokyo. More than 1,000 aircraft from a powerful Third Fleet task force lying southeast of the capital bombed and strafed nearly 80 airdromes around Tokyo in a day-long attack—probably just the beginning of a two or three day assault.

Approximately 500 Superforts dumped 3,500 tons of fire bombs and high explosives on at least five industrial cities. Tokyo said they hit seven, while 17 other B-29s* mined coastal waters.

Japanese broadcasts reported 100 Mustang fighters from two Jima raided Osaka and Kobe while 130 bombers and fighters from Okinawa raked Kyushu.

The coordinated attack stemming from the most powerful carrier force ever to enter Japanese waters, and from bases in three island groups carved out of the Japanese empire, concentrated on knocking out what's left of the Mikado's air force and the airdromes from which they could defend Tokyo.

Vice Adm. John S. McCain's fast carrier task force moved in so close to the Japanese shore that it's 1,000 odd planes could well have flown close to 2,000 sorties during the day.

They bombed a 40 by 60 mile area around Tokyo, pinpointing airports and little factories missed by B-29s with their 500 pound bombs. They followed up with rockets and machinegun bullets.

Reports for the first half day of the attack, which opened at dawn, carried no word of interception or enemy counterattacks on the fleet. For the first time, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz named some 26 of the ships and admirals participating. It was the first carrier raid on Tokyo in five months.

The Tokyo-Osaka strikes at the Nagoya-Osaka area and Kyushu were similar to American-announced blows yesterday which neutralized airdromes in these areas in preparation for the carrier strike and knocked out 26 interceptors.

Five Germans Executed at Leavenworth

Ft. Leavenworth, Kas., July 10—Five German prisoners of war, sentenced to death for the murder of a fellow prisoner, were hanged early today at the U. S. disciplinary barracks in a move unprecedented in the annals of United States military history.

The prisoners, termed "fanatical Nazis" by army authorities, were convicted Jan. 25, 1944, at Camp Greiner, Okla., for the murder of Johannes Kunze at the Tonkawa, Okla., branch compound. They were the first foreign war prisoners ever to be executed in the United States.

The executed Germans, all members of Rommel's Afrika Korps, were:

Walter Beyer, 32, whose rank was equivalent to that of a first sergeant in the U. S. Army; Berthold Seidel, 30, a staff sergeant; Hans Demme, 23, sergeant; Hans Schomer, 27, sergeant; and Willi Scholz, 22, corporal.

All went to their deaths clad in their German uniforms, their only request, Beyer, the ranking member of the group, was the first to go to the gallows.

Many Army Units Arrive In States

By the Associated Press

The following army units arrived in the United States from Europe today:

At New York—Fourth Division Headquarters Company, Eighth Infantry Regiment and 29th, 42nd, 44th and 20th Artillery Battalions; Third Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron, Mechanized; 88th Chemical Mortar Battalion; 346th Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company; 77th Ordnance Battalion Headquarters; 684th Quartermaster Drivers Detachment.

At Boston—809th Tank Destroyer Battalion; 32nd Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron, mechanized; 394th Field Artillery Battalion; 1521st Engineer Utility Detachment; Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 1055th Engineer Port (construction and repair).

Japs Talk Peace To Stir Up Dissension

Washington, July 10—(AP)—Acting Secretary of State Grew declared today that the Japanese are using "purported peace feelers" in an attempt to stir up dissension in the United States and among the Allies.

Their objective, he said, is to obtain a peace short of unconditional surrender even though they know beyond question already that their defeat is certain.

The United States, the acting secretary emphatically asserted, has "received no peace offer from the Japanese government, through official or unofficial channels."

Warren County Industries Affected By Utilities Strike

Two Warren county industries were affected by the strike of United Fuel Gas Company of West Virginia today through orders received by the local office of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company. The United Fuel Gas Company furnishes gas to the Manufacturers and their supply has been cut about 50%. The two firms here affected are the United Refinery and the Sheffield Glass Bottle Works.

Both companies were notified early this morning to cease the use of the gas. The United Refinery plant is equipped with fuel oil burning apparatus and suffered no difficulty in making the switch.

At Sheffield the glass bottle company was given a warning yesterday relative to a possible shutdown of the gas supply. Then about 1:05 this morning a telephone call came through shutting off the gas supply. The company during the time last winter when a gas shortage caused gas to be taken from many plants in this area installed a fuel oil system and this was turned on as soon as possible last night. The change was affected with but minor trouble and operations at the Sheffield plant are continuing uninterrupted today.

The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company supplies a number of other manufacturing plants in the city and should the strike continue and the gas supply be curtailed they also may be taken off the gas lines. No indication is given that domestic users may be affected.

Local offices of the gas company had but meager information relative to the situation and acted on orders received from the Pittsburgh office.

Six Killed In a Storm in The Lehigh Valley

Phillipsburg, N. J., July 10—(AP)—At least six persons were reported dead today in the wake of an electrical storm which struck the Lehigh valley last night.

Four persons were killed here when two houses, occupied by 11 persons, were crushed by a stone wall undermined by heavy rains flowing down a mountainside. Builders were used to reach the bodies.

More than 25 Girl Scouts were marooned for several hours at a camp 10 miles from Easton, Pa., but a rescue party brought them to safety after ropes were used to guide a boat across a swollen creek.

Heavy rains poured into a 25-mile stretch of the valley from Phillipsburg to Northampton, Pa. Holes 10 feet deep were torn in the ground at Easton, roofs of houses were damaged and highways were reported under water. Rivers and creeks were two to three feet above normal.

Estimates of the over-all damage resulting from the downpour, lightning and high winds ranged into hundreds of thousands of dollars and officials said it was the worst storm in the area since 1942 when 32 persons were killed.

Police closed the new highway bridge over the Delaware river connecting Phillipsburg and Easton. Train service of the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central railroads near Phillipsburg was disrupted by washouts. Communication and electrical lines were down.

In Allentown, the weather bureau reported 1.06 inches of rainfall in an hour and 15 minutes.

Nips Retreat Rapidly In Southern Asia

By PRESTON GROVER

New Delhi, July 10—(AP)—Japanese forces are withdrawing so rapidly from their southern Asia sphere that a survey from this vantage point suggests that a hard-pressed Allied campaign during the coming fall and winter would recover the entire area.

Already the Japanese appear to have conceded the loss of this area by allowing the closing of the Hengyang corridor in China through which garrison in French Indo-China could have escaped. In Burma, scattered Japanese are fighting their way eastward, evidently trying to escape into Thailand. Borneo is now hotly attacked by Australians and Americans.

Javanese And Dutch Indians Aid In Borneo

By SPENCER DAVIS

Manila, July 10—(AP)—Javanese and Dutch West Indian volunteers secured the upper reaches of Balikpapan in two amphibious operations Saturday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters headquarters announced today.

In their first announced participation in the campaign, the Dutch forces quickly silenced small-arms fire from enemy river craft which had taken refuge in the mouths of the swampy Soemba and Wainbesar rivers.

The Dutch quickly occupied the Kariango and Telakiteb peninsulas after short overwater crossings from Cape Baroe, solidifying the allied grip on the whole bay area.

Australian troops meanwhile were engaged in tough hand-to-hand fighting against the completely encircled Japanese in the Pandanar refinery district in the northernmost limits of Balikpapan town.

A considerable portion of the refinery already was in Australian hands, and a spokesman said the dikehead Japanese naval personnel still defending the ruined structures were being eliminated rapidly. The Australians had plunged across all-but-impenetrable swamps to complete sealing off the area.

General Election Called In France

By EELMAN MORIN

Paris, July 10—(AP)—Two government officials, who claim to know Gen. De Gaulle's intentions, said today that he would not be a candidate for the new national assembly which the French will elect at a general election Oct. 14 and expressed doubt whether he would align himself with any party.

Political circles considered it likely, however, that the new assembly would exercise its power to "draft" De Gaulle, the president of the present provisional government, for office.

The fate of the bi-cameral system of government is expected to be at stake in the general election, the first in France since before the war, when the voters decide whether they wish to discard the constitution of 1875, under which the third republic was established.

The election probably will show just how far—if at all—France has drifted to the left in recent years.

Former Officer In Khaki As Private

Atlanta, July 10—(AP)—Wounded twice in 14 months overseas and then discharged, former First Lt. William K. Dobson, 26, of Atlanta found himself back in khaki to-day—drafted as a buck private.

The greetings from his draft board came five months after his discharge last January. In the interim he had married and got his old job back with the U. S. Forest Service.

He's now a private at Camp Blanding, Fla., the same place he reported to when he enlisted in the army in May, 1942. He received his commission at the Fort Benning officers' candidate school.

An 84-point veteran, he holds the Purple Heart with one Oak Leaf cluster and the Bronze Star Medal. He was wounded in the leg on D-Day plus 1 in Normandy, and again in September, 1944, during the spearhead attack on Aachen.

Members of Dobson's draft board and army officials declined to comment on the case.

SALVAGE CHAIRMAN SAYS RAGS NEEDED

Harrisburg, July 10—(AP)—A critical need of rags for the war against Japan was reported today by Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the state salvage committee.

Baker set the 1945 rag collection goal for the state at 60,000,000 pounds. He said they are needed for wiping machines and for the manufacture of roofing materials, paper, and other war needs.

Huge Radar Plant Taken From Berlin

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Berlin, July 10—(AP)—The Nazis had a $5,000,000 radar plant in the Berlin Temple of Sportsman-ship, site of the 1936 Olympic games, it was disclosed today.

The factory, operated with great secrecy for the Luftaffe, manufactured equipment that supposedly could determine the weight, size and speed of any plane leaving England for the continent.

There is no factory there now—only a labyrinth of nearly empty underground chambers under the shell-scarred concrete apron at the south side of the great stadium.

British occupation forces now occupy the entire 325 acre park site on the western fringe of Berlin.

German caretakers who remained said the Nazi machinery was removed by Soviet authorities before the British arrived.

Battle Casualty Minus Arms And Legs at Battle Creek

Battle Creek, Mich., July 10—(AP)—The first and thus far the only battle casualty of this war who has lost parts of both arms and legs is now a patient at Percy Jones General Hospital here.

He is Master Sgt. Frederic Hensel of Corbin, Ky., who had both legs above the knees and his left arm above the elbow blown off on Okinawa June 2 when he stepped on a Japanese land mine.

Despite desperate efforts by doctors to save his mangled right forearm, that, too, was amputated while he was en route to this country on a hospital ship.

"I'd make a good picture for propaganda against the next war," drawled the good-natured Kentuckian.

His wife, Mrs. Jewell Hensel, was on hand to greet him when he came in late Sunday night.

Miraculously, army doctors said, two others broke out. One, by 1,000 employees of Detroit Creamery Company, and Ebling Creamery, halted delivery of milk to about 30 per cent of Detroit homes and stores and also affected the company's plants in nearby Dearborn and Pontiac.

In other disputes of a week or longer duration, the largest single stoppage was the 16,500 CIO United Rubber Workers at the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in Akron, O.

Recapture Of Tayu Reported By The Chinese

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, July 10—(AP)—Tayu in the heart of Wolfram mining region in Kiangsi province, 175 miles northeast of Canton and 45 miles southwest of the former U. S. air base site at Wanhien, has been captured by Chinese forces, the Chinese high command announced today.

Chinese spearheads, pursuing retreating Japanese troops, were reported to have pushed on beyond Tayu to a point approximately 32 miles from Kanhien, which the U. S. 14th air force was compelled to abandon last Jan. 30.

Recapture of Tayu isolated Kanhien by severing Japanese communications with Kuikong, important road and rail center 125 miles north of Canton on the Canton-Hankow railroad. Kanhien, 120 miles northeast of Kuikong, was connected to that town by highway.

The Japanese, evidently bent on safeguarding their hold on Kanhien by smashing potential Chinese attacks, were reported counter attacking Chinese forces 12 miles to the northwest of the city. Fighting also continued six miles east of Kanhien, where the Japanese were trying to eliminate another possible threat.

Meanwhile, in an area some 330 miles to the southwest, Chinese forces pushing from liberated Luichow toward the former U. S. 14th air force base at Kweilin, 90 miles to the northeast, scored new gains along both the Luichow (Turn to Page Nine)

Relief Program Must Be Reduced

Rome, July 10—(AP)—Herbert Lehman, head of UNRRA, said today the organization would have to reduce its relief program in Europe during July and August "and perhaps in the following months" because of the world shortage of supplies.

He said he could not estimate the exact size of reductions since the supply situation was subject to change. He said the international relief agency planned to distribute 3,895,000 metric tons of supplies worth $900,000,000 in the next six months.

He said that with supplies in the United States, Canada, Argentina and other countries, "we believe there are ample supplies of grain to meet our needs" but added that meat, fats and dairy products were seriously short.

Unit In the North Pacific Celebrates

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Adak, Aleutian Islands, July 10—(AP)—Forces of the North Pacific Command celebrated the second anniversary of their first raid on the Japanese Kurile Islands today with the pledge by their commander, Vice Adm. Frank Jack Fletcher, that unceasing warfare "could be carried out against the northern defenses of the empire."

The first raid on the Kuriles was made July 10, 1943, by eight army Mitchell bombers flying from the recaptured base at Attu. Since then, North Pacific Command fliers in Mitchells, Liberators, Catalinas, Venturas and Harpoons have attacked the Japanese back door flying one of the world's most hazardous air routes.

In their latest sweep surface units boldly steamed through the chain into the Okhotsk Sea to cripple a six ship Jap convoy.

Now, promises Fletcher, the attacks will be intensified.

New Labor Disputes Boost Number of Idle To 36,000

By the Associated Press

New labor disputes in Detroit and Alabama boosted the number of idle workers today from a 30-day low of about 36,000 to approximately 43,000.

The new work stoppages on the fluid labor front affected an Alabama war plant and two motor city dairies.

Six thousand employees of the National Cast Iron Pipe Company plant in Birmingham, Ala., halted production of 155 mm. shells in a dispute a company spokesman said was over a change in supervisory personnel.

38 Warren Retail Stores Sell Nearly One-Third of All "E" Bonds Sold in the County

Jumping into the war effort with both feet during the 7th War Loan, the militant group of Warren retailers under the chairmanship of Ben Kinnear sold $308,333.50 worth of war bonds—just about a third of all the "E" bonds sold by the entire county organization, it was revealed this morning by W. E. Yeager, chairman of the Warren County War Finance Committee.

Though there may still be some last-minute sales credited to the retailers' efforts when the final figures are compiled as of July 9th, the report shows that 38 stores participated in the drive, and together they exceeded their self-assumed quotas by more than doubling the goal set at the beginning of the drive. Many outstanding personal and store performances were buried in the final tabulations, and though it isn't possible to cite all of them, some of the more outstanding are as follows:

Pearl Johnson of Metzger-Wright Co. won that company's two top prizes for her record sales of 92 bonds totaling over $25,000 in cash value. Another prize for the greatest amount of dollar sales went to Helen Brockway for $29,600 in cash sales. Metzger-Wright as a unit turned in $147,106.50 for the largest single store contribution, which was almost half of the total store sales, and more than double their quota.

The retailers as a group signed up for $149,511 in quota, and some of the stores over-shot their quotas by terrific margins. E. L. Stein's exceeded their quota by more than 7 times, with total cash sales reaching $7,193.75. Montgomery-Ward's store sold $60,618.75 worth of bonds, the second largest store report, to pass quota by more

NEEDED AT GAP

Anyone who would like to help get overseas soldiers home on furloughs and men eligible for discharge back into civilian life, is asked to apply for employment at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, according to the Civil Service Commission, which is seeking workers for the reception station and separation centers where the soldiers are processed. Application may be made through the local employment service office or at the civilian personnel office at the Gap. Particularly urgent is the need for clerk-typists, clerks, laborers and truck drivers.

MEN ARE NEEDED

A shortage of experienced cooks, butchers and other members of ship steward departments seriously threatens to disrupt re-employment of troops home and to the South Pacific. In renewing a nationwide appeal for 6,000 immediately-needed men, the War Shipping Administration discloses that unless this quota is met, homeward-bound soldiers will be delayed. Applicants may report to any WSA recruiting or manning organization or to their nearest U. S. Employment Service office. Those in essential industry will require a statement of availability.

Three Cars off Track Monday Near Roystone

Yesterday afternoon three cars of a west bound freight carrying empties back to Erie for shipment of ore left the rails near Roystone. Prompt work by the wrecking crews opened the line to traffic so that passenger trains last evening were able to proceed as usual. This was the ninth wreck in nine days on the Renovo and Buffalo divisions all of them being freight wrecks and while the property loss was quite heavy no person was injured. Men on the wreck trains have been working long hours in clearing the debris of the wrecks and repairing torn up track.

The Pennsy has been moving the greatest volume of freight in its history over the local division and has been making Herculean efforts to keep tracks and motive power in good condition.

Rain Proved Welcome For Entire County

Rain which fell last evening and during the night was especially welcome over the entire county as the gardens and field crops were in dire need of moisture. Farmers and those who have gardens report that the ground was hard and dry and not conducive to growth of crops. The rain of last night and this morning was heavy and did not have a rapid runoff.

Last evening's storm was accompanied by a beautiful display of lightning and there were some vivid flashes during the evening off to the northwest but no reports of damage being done have been received. Streams of the county had reached a low ebb due to the dry spell and in the river the piers of the Hickory street bridge began to show above the water.

Warren Still a Critical Area Says Levine

Manager David Levine of the WMC stated that Warren is still in the "critical area" for labor and the situation here is as tight as it has been at any time since the war started. There is still need of men in the various Warren plants and the demand for women is a number of the plants is seriously felt. Mr. Levine said that in a number of the towns in the District there is a slackening of the labor situation but that in this city the demand is still heavy.

Inquiry develops the fact that there have been no lay-offs at any of the local plants. There has been a semi-conversion movement under way and a shift has been made from war orders in some to civilian needs. Rent control in the area is also being held by the Rent Board due to the labor situation and houses are still a mighty scarce article in this city and vicinity.

How big is the job of beating the Jap?

No one knows. No one can say with certainty how big the job of licking him is—but this is how big the Jap is, this may give you an idea:

The Jap has a giant empire—Somehow we have always looked upon Japan as a small nation, a "little island." But—the Japanese empire is vast, huge, the second largest in the world. It is nearly 5,000 miles long. It is over 3,000 miles wide. 400,000,000 people now live under Japanese rule—three times as many people as there are in the United States.

The Jap has a huge army—Japan can put in the field from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 war-hardened fighters. 2,000,000 more can be quickly called. How many are six million soldiers? Three times as many as there were Germans fighting the allied armies in western Germany.

The Jap has ample resources—In their home islands and the vast territories the Japs have taken are all the things that Japan needs to conduct a long and vicious war. The figures on Japan's resources are startling—in many cases, greater than ours.

CROSS-COUNTRY GI TRAVEL

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson invited the accusation of resorting to the sort of buck-passing the public mind associates with official Washington in his recent comments about charges that shameful traveling accommodations are being provided for soldiers transported from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Most readers recall the circumstances. Charges were that servicemen were being packed like sardines into vermin-infested day coaches for the long trip across the continent.

Mr. Patterson had nothing to say at the time about vermin. He did acknowledge that day coaches had been used for such travel, adding that the War Department was attempting to correct that condition. He then mentioned that the provision of travel accommodations is up to the Office of Defense Transportation and to the railroads, to which, he said, the Armed Services had protested the lack of sleepers for all troops on long hauls.

It is entirely possible, as the undersecretary implied, that the Army was not at fault if soldiers were required to ride three per seat on a five-and-one-half-day ride toward the Pacific where, inevitably, some of them must die. Perhaps the War Department cannot be blamed, even though some may wonder why the Army did not make sure, in advance, that men bound from one theatre of war to another would, at least, ride in comfort.

But, without attempting to say who it might be, certainly someone was to blame. And it is proper that the responsibility should be fixed. It is not enough to do everything possible to insure that such things do not happen again.

True enough, the shortage of railroad equipment is serious. But no American will be easily persuaded that the shortage is so acute that any soldier should be required to share a seat with two others, and to sleep in the aisle, during a trip across the United States. That sort of business cannot be justified so long as there is one Pullman car being used for civilian travel, or for any purpose except, perhaps, the movement of sick or wounded veterans. If this means discomfort for civilians, or that many of them are to be crowded off trains entirely, what of it? How many civilians would be willing to trade places with Pacific-bound fighters, even if they could travel like royalty?

Doubtless it is the official job of ODT and the railroads to provide the equipment on which soldiers are transported. But, unofficially, it is the job of every American, including everyone connected with the War Department and the Armed Forces, to make sure that the accommodations are the very best available. And it will be difficult to persuade any American citizen that the best available should be anything worse than equipment in which the nation's fighting men can travel and sleep in comfort.

SLOW BUT SURE JUSTICE

Statements in highly authoritative quarters that mass trials of top Nazi war criminals should be started by late summer and finished by next December should satisfy those—meaning almost everyone—who are eager that justice in these cases shall be sure, swift and stern.

Considering the importance of the cases, the number of defendants to be tried, the magnitude of the job of preparation and the involved international aspects of the entire proceedings, such a schedule will represent astonishing judicial speed.

Naturally, many feel that even the schedule outlined is overly long. Their thought that the criminals should be given the formality of a trial and then shot has its appealing features. But that would be the Nazi way of handling this matter—which is about the best possible argument for not doing it that way.

The better way, and the democratic way, is to take a little longer and handle the cases as they are being handled. This will tend to add emphasis to the fact that, in the larger sense, democracy is synonymous with the guarantee of justice for all.

The Japs' apprehensiveness must have increased with the redoubtable General Stilwell's assumption of an active command in their rear neighborhood. They must realize that now the ominous initials V-J stand not only for Victory in Japan, but also Vinegar Joe.

Our eclipse of the sun was only partial—it will be a total one for the Japs' Rising Sun.

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — No greater political phenomenon has occurred in Washington recently than the case of Harry Hopkins.

For a good many years, Hopkins, as close advisor to President Roosevelt and probably his most intimate friend, was the target of consistent attacks, particularly from conservative Democrats and Republicans.

Since Pearl Harbor many of his old New Dealer friends had been grumbling, too. They felt he had thrown them over and turned his back on the social gains that were the objective of the early New Deal.

Hopkins undoubtedly would have been attacked more had he been subject to that vulnerability which goes with being in the spotlight. It wasn't often that his detractors could get their teeth into anything. Nevertheless, they never let up.

WHEN President Roosevelt died, Hopkins was in a Rochester, Minn., clinic undergoing treatment for the illness which has plagued him for so long. He came to the funeral, but he went right back. It was freely predicted here that he would be the first of the old White House gang to go.

President Truman has upset as many predictions in the brief time he has been in office as President Roosevelt ever did in a similar period. He called Hopkins back to Washington and sent him on that Mission to Moscow. Hopkins' old foes, particularly on Capitol Hill, shook their heads, even if they didn't say much. Since his return, it has been a different story. Many have suddenly become vocal in Hopkins' praise. As a matter of fact, Hopkins probably hasn't had so much praise since he entered the Washington picture.

President Truman started it off by expressing belief that the Hopkins report, as a whole, was very encouraging. Cementing relations with Russia and her western allies is far from an easy task. The road ahead is a rocky one, but it is passable at all it seems certain that no small credit is due Hopkins.

MANY who have praised Hopkins don't know he took his life in his hands when he made that trip. In March, intimates say, Hopkins seemed better than in many months, but a few weeks later the stomach ailment from which he has so long suffered caught up with him again. He had not fully recovered when President Truman asked him to undertake the Moscow mission.

The conferences with Premier Stalin and Molotov were long and arduous. Several persons who should know say that the day Hopkins made his long report to the President, he was running a high fever, a fact of which President Truman was not told until later.

It seems certain that Harry Hopkins never will go back into the government for any great time. He must husband his strength for those periods when he can be of service in smoothing out complications still ahead. It is ironic, however, that the only general praise that has come to him came after the Chief he served so long and faithfully had passed on.

SAY UNCLE

DOROTHY BURGESS

Chapter 23

"GOD give me strength, Fred," said John. I feel just about played out!" Whereupon, adding a greater strain to his jangled nerves, Madge's bedroom door swung open and Mario floated out like a dream in her glorified white satin nightgown.

"Well, John," she cooed, "how do I look?" pivoting like a model for his benefit. John covered his eyes from embarrassment as the splits in her skirt opened up brightly. And the doctor, being the diplomat, answered for him.

"Stunningly beautiful, I would say," said the doctor.

Mario came to a floating pause in front of the doctor and, after giving him a quick once over turned to John. "Well, John, don't you think it's the proper time to introduce us?"

John stared at her. "You mean Fred?" he asked.

"Fred who?" she shrugged prettily.

"Oh, darling," groaned John. Then he pulled himself together. "This is Dr. Fred Bliss."

DINNER was most delightful and most confusing. Mario was too, too delightful and the men were completely confused. Neither John nor the doctor could keep his eyes from wandering to the empty chair, and John kept asking himself, "Is it empty or is Uncle Louie sitting in it?" For the men, the realization that Uncle Louie was not present came in rather a shocking fashion—they suddenly saw what they thought was their Madge wave gaily toward the empty hall.

How were they to know that Uncle Louie had just passed by on his way back to his laboratory in the basement, and that he had waved to Mario as he skipped past the open doors? A look passed between John and the doctor. Naturally, they had seen nothing.

John nervously cleared his throat and asked gently, "Whom are you waving at, dear?"

"Uncle Louie," she said casually.

At least, thought John, we know the old codger isn't here at the table! Then he tried to ask very nonchalantly, "Isn't Uncle Louie joining us for dinner?"

"Why should you care?" said Mario caustically, "when you don't even bother to speak to him? Besides, he has more important things to do."

"You mean," said the doctor, trying to sound interested, "his formula?"

"Yes," said Mario, "he's starting a new one, you know."

"No, I didn't," said the doctor. "Did he finish his last one?"

"Did he?" she laughed. "And how!"

John forced himself to show interest. "Dear, what was the last one all about?"

"Wouldn't you like to know!" she laughed uproariously.

THE doctor was really stumped. He leaned back in his chair and interlocked his fingers in deep thought, while John gritted his teeth to keep them from chattering. And as dinner progressed, the air thickened with vibrations of mixed emotions. Never before had John seen Madge eat with such a voracious appetite. She kept Sin Low hopping back and forth from the kitchen, bringing her third and fourth servings of Maguella's superb Southern dishes, and she was too busy consuming them to notice that John hadn't eaten a bite and that the doctor had only nibbled. Having finished the enjoyable job of cleaning her plate, Mario leaned comfortably back in her chair and smiled a well-fed smile.

"Well," she said, "that black-eyed Susan is some cook!"

John knew that the only way to keep from going to pieces was to get out of the dining room, away from it all, and inhale some fresh night air. He rose unsteadily to his feet. "I think," he said, making an excuse to leave, "I'd better go and pack."

Mario spoke peremptorily, "John Winston, you're not moving out of here until my week is up!"

"I'm not?" he asked weakly.

"Not," she said firmly. "We're going to leave here together. Is that clear?"

"Where are we going?" he asked plaintively.

"Back to town, until things are settled."

"What things, dear?"

"Our futures, of course," she said.

"Of course," said John vaguely. "And as soon as the divorce goes through," she said with satisfaction, "we'll move back here to stay."

John rubbed his aching forehead. "Must get some air," he mumbled. He tried to keep from reeling as he left the room with the sinking Sunshine at his side.

Mario looked after him, then she burst out laughing. "The poor darling. No wonder he feels miserable. I keep forgetting who I am." She continued to laugh and, referring to Madge as she pointed to her body, said, "He thinks he has to live with Madge all his life."

The doctor, for the first time in years, found himself suffering from indigestion; he would gladly have given his last dollar to have joined John for a breath of fresh air. His prescription to "play along with Madge" was more difficult to fulfill than he had anticipated; now he figured he not only had Madge as a patient, but John as well. To pull them both through with flying colors he must keep his equilibrium. He was groping around for something to say when, to his relief, Sin Low entered from the butler's pantry and addressed Mario.

"You wish coffee served in den, please?" he grinned.

"Suits me," said Mario, as Sin Low pulled out her chair. Then she locked her arm in the doctor's. "You and I shall have a nice little tete-a-tete all by our lonesomes."

Like Father, Like Son

William G. Hill Jr., son of daredevil "Red" Hill, who, a generation ago won fame as "the master of Niagara," just couldn't be happy until he could follow in his dad's figurative footsteps by shooting Whirlpool Rapids below Niagara Falls in a barrel. The elder Hill did it three times, in 1910, 1930 and 1931. The 1931 venture almost killed him, and he was rescued by William Jr., then 17, who swam the whirlpool and pulled him to safety. Top photo shows him tying rope to the barrel. Below, left, as he appeared in 1931. At right is his father.

Wave Coming To Town To Enlist Girls

Yeoman Ember Heyne of the WAVES will be in Warren on July 18 and 19, at the USES Office, 225 Pennsylvania avenue, west.

Native of the midwest, Yeoman Heyne was born on a farm in Hooper, Nebraska. She attended Midland College in Fremont, Neb., and continued her education at the University of Nebraska for two years.

Before entering the Navy in December, 1942, Yeoman Heyne was engaged as a stenographer with the United States Army Engineers in Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Neb.

Yeoman Heyne

She received her training at the naval training station at A. and M. University, Stillwater, Okla. Upon completion of her two months' orientation studies, she received the rating of a third-class petty officer and was assigned to duty at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Yeoman Heyne received assignment to come to Warren as a result of the current drive for 20,000 WAVES, needed by the Navy to help quicken the end of the war of the Pacific. She urges all prospective WAVES to visit her in the USES Office, 225 Pennsylvania avenue, west.

YOU'RE NOT TOO OLD TO FEEL YOUNG

This is a message for men who have known life but no longer find it thrilling because of the lack of certain vitamins and hormones. Tromone, a recent medical discovery combining vitamins and hormones may multiply the vim and zest and enjoyment you once knew. Your whole approach, your whole attitude toward life, may improve when you begin to use Tromone. Now it may be possible for middle aged men to again enjoy the same spirit, vitality and pleasures that made their youth a thing to remember. Added years may not subtract from your pleasure when you use Tromone, the new medical formula combining vitamins and hormones. Follow directions on label. Niagara Falls, Ont., July 9.—(P)—William "Red" Hill, Jr., 32-year-old souvenir shop operator rode through the Niagara rapids in a barrel yesterday to fulfill a pledge taken at his father's deathbed three years ago, and today faced the threat of police action as a result of his exploit.

Hill, who foiled efforts of the Niagara Parks commission police to prevent the trip, contented himself meanwhile with the knowledge that he had set a new record in making the bouncing, swirling seven-mile ride in two hours. He nursed a bruised left arm—his only injury—and intimated that it was his last ride in a barrel. Anyway, he said, the red-painted 750-pound steel barrel, which had been built for Hill, Sr., was ruined by frequent collisions with rocks, "sprung beyond repair."

Eva Fiscus Bride Beatrice Wolbert
In Sister's Home Weds Corry Man

The marriage of Miss Eva Fiscus, daughter of Daniel Fiscus, of Warren, and Clyde Jacobson, son of Louie Jacobson, also of this city, took place Wednesday evening, July 4, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Agnes Warner, 242 South Main street, Jamestown, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed in front of the fireplace, which was decorated with Talmans roses and carnations, and Rev. C. Norton Werner, of Kidder United Brethren church, officiated. Miss Lois Edwards, Warren, furnished the wedding music.

The mother of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Byron Diller, Warren, who wore a shoulder corsage of roses and baby marigolds with a frock of navy blue. The best man was Frank Schumann, Warren.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Agnes S. Werner. Her bride's frock was of bright blue, with white accessories and corsage of pink roses and yellow marigolds.

A reception followed for 30 guests. A miniature bride couple topped the two-tiered, heart-shaped wedding cake which centered the bride's table.

Other out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Anderson, Mrs. Mark Edwards, Mrs. Ann Brewster, Mrs. Robinson, Byron Diller, and Mrs. George Bean, Warren; Mrs. H. M. Wells, Akeley; Dolores Edwards, Washington, D. C.

Beatrice Wolbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wolbert, of Pittsfield, became the bride of Lawrence Eckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eckman, of Corry, in St. Luke's church at Irvin on Saturday. Father Edward Jacobs celebrating the nuptial mass and performing the service. The altar was beautifully decorated with snapdragons, delphinium, roses and peonies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and sleeves puffed at the shoulder. Her fingertip veil was attached to a snired cap with orange blossom clusters, her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom, and her white prayer book had gardenia markers.

Margaret Wolbert was her sister's maid of honor, wearing pink satin and net, with matching hat, and carrying pink roses. Evelyn Wolbert, bridesmaid, wore pink and carried pink and white carnations. Barbara Ann Brynfors, flower girl, wore white chiffon and lace, with a flower wreath for her hair.

Mr. Claude Weber was best man and ushers were Harold and William Wolbert and Eugene Heath.

Following the ceremony, which was attended by 75 relatives and friends of the couple, dinner was served at the Wolbert home.

Mrs. Eckman attended Youngsville High School and Mr. Eckman was graduated from Corry High School with the Class of 1943. He was honorably discharged from the navy some time ago and is now employed at the Corry-Jamestown plant.

Fifteen Minutes a Day

If your hips look straight as a pin stripe in this summer's rumpus togs, congratulations. You'll be more envied than a Varga girl in your bathing suit or shorts. But if curves aren't THAT subtle, here are some tailor-made exercises guaranteed to slope them down.

Allow 15 minutes a day to the stint, and remember that regularity is a must. If flesh is flabby, you can apply the tape-measure test at the end of seven days, but if flesh is stubbornly firm, give exercises at least two weeks to prove their worth. That is the advice of Annamary Dickey, Metropolitan Opera singer and star of Broadway's musical hit "Hollywood Boulevard," who guarantees results. Here are the exercises, clip them and get busy without delay:

No. 1—Sit on the floor with torso in half-lying, half-sitting position. Weight on hands turned towards body, diaphragm and abdomen contracted. Raise legs toward chest, bending knees and keeping toes pointed. At the same time throw your head back to stretch neck muscles, and slowly raise legs straight forward and up, keeping toes pointed and head back. Inhale as you begin, exhale when finished. To finish, you slowly bring legs downward and back to original position—flat on the floor. Repeat 10 times and go into the next exercise, which is:

No. 2—Sit with legs outstretched and hands behind you with palms flat on the floor to balance your body. Raise right knee and keep foot flat on the floor. Lowering right leg and raising left knee alternately, "walk" forward until you travel the length of the room. Using the same legwork, "walk" back to starting point, and travel back and forth until you begin to feel some concern for your skin.

No. 3—Go down on all-fours with hands spread to brace you, with one leg forward bent at the knee, the other thrust to the rear and held straight, both supporting your weight by their toes. Now jump, reversing the position of your legs. Go easy at first, and work up in vigor and number of jumps.

SAY UNCLE
By DOROTHY BURGESS
(From Page Five)

Chapter 24
STROLLING leisurely down the long hall Mario asked confidentially, "What do you think of Uncle Louie?"

"To be candid," he said, "I haven't seen enough of him to judge."

"Don't tell me the poor old darling has been avoiding you too? Then she thought of something that saved the doctor from having to answer. 'How thoughtless of me, I forgot to tell what her name is to take Uncle Louie's dinner down to his laboratory.' Then she said, as she turned and started down the hall toward the kitchen, 'I'll join you for coffee in the den in a few minutes.'"

Along the doctor opened his medical bag and extracted a bottle of bicarbonate in tablet form. Then he walked out on the terrace in search of John.

"Take one of these," said the doctor, offering John a tablet; "it may help you to digest your troubles."

John placed one in his mouth and the doctor followed suit. And as they chewed, the crunching sound became magnified, due to the heavy stillness which enveloped them.

John finally spoke in a broken voice. "When Madge said she wanted to live in sin—that got me!"

"Now don't you start talking in riddles," said the doctor.

"You heard what she said, Fred?"

"Maybe my ears were too wide open."

"She said we'd get a divorce and come back here to live."

"That's right, she did," he agreed.

"Fred," said John in a hushed voice, "I've got a terrible, sneaking feeling that Madge is trying to imitate Marie!"

"She doesn't know her, does she?" asked the doctor.

"She's probably read plenty about her in magazines and newspapers," he turned his moon-like face to the doctor. "Look," he said, "look at the way she's acting and talking? Her face all smeared with makeup. Why she's even wearing Marie's perfume, Lotus Petals!"

"John," said the doctor, "I don't like to say this, but I think we are on the wrong track. I thought I was right when I said to give Madge full steam ahead and suggested we play along with her, but I'm afraid I've made a mistake. Tonight's episode has brought me to one conclusion."

"And what's that?" asked John. "I think you had better omit me," Fred hesitated, "and call some specialist in on the case."

"No!" cried John in alarm. "For God's sake, Fred, don't walk out on me at a time like this!"

JOHN'S plea sank deep into the doctor's kind heart and with a determined move, he slapped his knee and rose to his feet. "I'll pull Madge through this, if it's the last case I ever handle!" he exclaimed.

John stood up and looked at the doctor. "Thanks, Fred—thanks," he said.

"Come along, my boy," said the doctor. "Madge is waiting for us in the den."

When John and the doctor entered the den they found Marie draped seductively on the davenport, sipping her demi-tasse. John's renewed determination to play along died when he saw Madge lift a cigarette to her lips and inhale deeply.

"You're smoking!" he exclaimed.

"Really, John," she said in her assumed ultra manner, "your prudishness verges on the ridiculous." Then she turned to the doctor and laughingly remarked, "Once in a while I even enjoy smoking a pipe!"

The doctor noticed John's wavering condition and took it upon himself to play host in an effort to give John a breathing spell.

"Coffee, John?" he asked, while walking to the table where he proceeded to fill two cups.

"You know something, John," said Marie, arrogantly oblivious of John's rigid staring, "I've been studying this room, and with a few drastic changes it could be made quite livable."

Silence. And again the doctor nursed the situation.

"I've always admired this room," he said, trying to make conversation. He looked up at the natural, wide oak beams of the high ceiling. "I wouldn't mind owning those beautiful oak beams."

"You can have them," said Marie generously.

"I may," he said with a wave of her cigarette. "I'm going to have every one of those termite catchers yanked out."

A very faint groan came from John.

"With my taste," she continued blithely, "I'll change this morgue into a show-place." She exhaled a long stream of smoke. "And," she continued, "I'm going to fumigate this house from top to bottom, with Lotus Petals!"

A very accidental and embarrassing "burp" escaped from John.

"Everything about this place is too old," she said. "I shall have the entire house painted white, with green shutters."

"Oh, no!" said John.

"Oh, yes," said Marie; "and what's more, out go all the antiques, including Egbert."

"Egbert, too?" asked John. "I can't imagine your wanting to keep that gruesome Egbert around with his remains still in side."

John didn't answer, and Marie didn't care as she continued to reconstruct Winston Manor.

"I'll modernize the entire house and fill every one of those dark, closed rooms upstairs with house guests."

"House guests?" gulped John. "I shall become famous for my social functions. Of course, dear," she gave John a coy look. "I'll take time off, every now and then, to raise sweet, stunning little—"

She was stopped by John. "On, my God!" he exploded. The doctor quickly moved to his side to support him.

How long will it take to beat JAPAN?

*One Year? Three Years? Five Years? Look at these Facts...
From the Army and Navy. Then Figure it Out for Yourself!*

 In spite of Midway, Bougainville, Tarawa, Saipan, Leyte, Manila, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, and all the other American victories, Japan now controls an area and population far larger than the United States, and with many natural resources greater than ours.

Her home islands are industrialized and organized to the last rivet, the last kilowatt of power, the last pair of human hands.

Japan can put in the field over 4,000,000 well-trained, battle-hardened troops, many with ten years of war behind them. This force is twice as large as all the German armies which defended France, the low countries and the Western front of the Reich against the combined armies of the United States, Britain, Canada and the Free French.

Back of these soldiers are more than 70 million civilians on the Jap home front, firmly indoctrinated in emperor worship—every man, woman and child ready and eager to die for the man they believe is a god.

Japan is fighting on "interior" lines. It's true that its fleet is now much smaller than ours. But never forget that the U. S. Navy has a much bigger job to do.

The Japs have stated, and no thinking man or woman doubts it, that they are prepared to sacrifice 10,000,000 men to hold their empire. To the Japanese, life is cheap. The emperor and the state mean everything—the individual, nothing.

If the war were to end tomorrow, Japan would have put the seal on a conquest greater than Napoleon's.

"But," you say, "the war with Japan won't end tomorrow."

Well, what about it? Will it end "tomorrow," or next month or next year, for you?

Are you planning to quit your war job, stop your blood donations, slacken your bond buying, use black market gas, have more fun, ease up generally?

Before you do, remember that many a gallant American boy, now vibrant with the breath of life, will die at the hands of the Japs.

How many?

Thousands? Certainly. Hundreds of thousands? Probably.

Well, how many?

That's up to you.

How you can help

- 1 Keep that war job!
- 2 Keep buying Bonds!
- 3 Keep doing all your country asks!

Montgomery's Victory Irks Philly Fans

By TED MEIER
Philadelphia, July 10.—(P)—Lightweight champion Bob Montgomery gained a split 10-round decision over Nick Moran at Shibe Park last night, but a deluge of chairs and seat covers into the ring indicated that the verdict was unpopular.

A crowd of 13,035 (gross gate $43,627.95) saw the Philadelphia Bobcat, making his first hometown appearance in a year and a half, win the nod of referee Charles Daggerty, 6-3-1, and judge Harry Lasky, 5-4-1, in his return non-title scrap with the Mexico City scrapper who beat him at Los Angeles back in May.

Judge Lou Costello thought Moran won decisively. He gave the champion only one round, the ninth. Of the remaining rounds, he gave Moran seven and called two even. The Associated Press had Moran on top, six rounds to four, by virtue of his winning the last round, a round which all three officials awarded Moran.

It was a bruising brawl all the way, with many of the rounds close. Neither asked nor gave any quarter. Montgomery gave Moran a severe body beating, but in turn took many a hard right to the chin and suffered a split lip. At long range Moran was the better.

Moran, warned against butting by Referee Daggerty in the seventh, seemed hurt in several stanzas, especially the eighth and ninth, when the champion crunched cruel lefts and rights to the pit of the stomach. However, the Mexico City lad swarmed all over Moran in the tenth, at one time knocking the champion into the ropes with a sharp right.

Afterwards Moran said he would like to "fight Bob again, but not in Philadelphia."

Monty weighed 135½ pounds, Moran 140½.

PULLMAN TRAVEL BAN PROTESTED IN PIT.

Pittsburgh, July 10.—(P)—The Office of Defense Transportation today awaited Rep. James G. Fulton and a delegation from the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, calling to protest the ODT's 450-mile Pullman travel embargo, to become effective next Sunday noon.

Rep. Fulton said the ban was "an injustice to Pittsburgh." Charles E. Chubb, chairman of the C. of C. transportation division, said the Pullman prohibition would hit Pittsburgh harder than any other metropolitan center because it is "the greatest producer of war materials."

"Trips by industrial leaders to the political and economic capitals of our country (Washington and New York) in connection with war work are essential and must be made with the least amount of travel time," Chubb said.

State Softball Tourney To Be Played in Erie

Erie, July 10.—(P)—Finals in the 1945 state softball championships will be played in the Memorial Stadium here Aug. 25 and 26.

Edward Ward, commissioner of the Pennsylvania Amateur Softball Association, said any amateur team is eligible to compete in preliminaries starting the first week in August.

Survivors of an eastern division at Philadelphia and a western division at Erie will fight it out here for the three state titles—men's major, men's minor and women's major. Eastern teams winning state titles will go to a regional meet at Baltimore; western teams to Cleveland.

ZIVIC VS. HARRIS TONITE

Pittsburgh, July 10.—(P)—Fritz Zivic will try for his fourth win over Ossie (Bulldog) Harris tonight at Hickey Park.

Zivic, who lost his last two starts to Harold Green and Cowboy Shank, said he was going to break the string tonight with a victory.

St. Josephs In 18-9 Win Over First Baptists

The St. Joseph's softball team continued to rule the YWCA Church softball league last night with an 18-9 victory over the First Baptists, who have yet to notch a victory. The win was the second for the Catholic outfit in the second round while the Baptists have two losses.

St. Joe's moved into the lead in the first frame with a three-run spurt, but lost their lead in their lead in the first of the third when Baptists sent home five tallies. The runs went home on home runs by Al McNally and Jim Farrell.

The Catholics added another run in their half of the third to make it 5-4 with the Baptists still leading. St. Joe's went wild in the fifth after the Catholics had a walk and a walk with no outs to start their rally. Pitcher Dick Harris was relieved by Jim Farrell but the Catholics sent home a total of 7 tallies to take the lead, 11-5.

In the sixth, St. Joe's scored two more but Baptists came back in the seventh with two. The Catholics collected five more in the eighth and Baptists scored twice in the ninth, the game ending at 18-9.

Chuck Denardi chalked up another win on the mound, having no losses so far in league activity.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

The Kane Republican writer who grinds out a column under the heading "The Bird" presented the following in a recent issue:

An interview recently with Chief of Police Gordon Munn reveals that some firmly established principles will be maintained in the Kane Borough police force. . . . Chief among these principles is courtesy, the Chief says. . . . He contends that the duties of a policeman in a community of this size include enforcement of the laws but that this can be done courteously with far better effect than by snarling and cussing. . . . His aim with the traveling public for example is to "try to bring business into Kane, not drive it out." . . . People respond much more positively to a courteous request than to a hard-boiled command in the majority of cases. . . . However this policy doesn't mean that people are going to get away with anything because enforcement is going to be the rule, no matter what is necessary. . . . The whole attitude of Chief Munn is that he is firmly intent upon enforcing all the laws but that firmness and courtesy can go together. . . . This policy has been commented upon by more than one person in Kane since he took over. . . . He reported also that the force will maintain the filing system of criminal records, will continue fingerprinting school children and bicycles will be registered as before with a possible reduction in the cost to the kids owning them and that all of the reports needed will be kept up to date. . . . Complete investigations of all accidents will be made and reports filed and photographs will be taken at the scene if necessary. . . . Individuals driving while intoxicated will receive no leniency whatever, the Chief stated, but will be given all the penalty the law provides insofar as he can press the charges. . . . and that is certainly commendable. . . . Sometime soon the Chief plans a meeting with the Auxiliary police and the Fire police for the purpose of correlating all their activities for efficiency in case of any emergencies that may arise. . . . Both organizations he values, he says, and he hopes to work with them. . . . Chief Munn has been in Kane for more than six weeks now and has expressed a high regard for the citizenry of this community, which, we believe, is returned.

Stocking of bluegills and other pan fish in the Conewango creek and in the upper reaches of the Allegheny river some years ago has paid big dividends according to anglers. The fish have taken hold well and those who fish for pan fish have taken large numbers. Bullheads have also been captured by the fishermen and when it comes to good eating the bullhead provides a goodly morsel. . . . As yet no big catches of bass have been reported up the river and there are few who have hooked into a muskie. . . . Down Keittville way the camps are filled with parties from Pittsburgh and down river points. Many new camps have been erected on the rim of the lake formed by the flood control dam on the Tionesta. The lake has also provided some mighty good fishing. . . . Reports that pollution has killed many fine fish in the river are being investigated by Fish Warden Ross Bailey, of Youngsville. Here's hoping that the anglers get some action that will protect the fish. A fisherman who gets a fish a little too small or has a few too many gets a rip roaring fine but when a stream is polluted it seems that the action taken is hardly severe enough. . . . Corn on the cob now ready for the sinking of teeth and greasing of ears. It's in the market at about five cents an ear. . . . The Department of Labor and Industry reported today that 70 fatal and 9,667 non-fatal industrial accidents occurred in Pennsylvania during May. The totals represented a decrease of 23.9 per cent in fatal mishaps and 5.2 per cent in injuries compared with the previous month. . . . Secretary William H. Chesnut said 92 deaths resulted from accidents during April while 10,196 persons were injured in industrial mishaps.

The centennial of the large Swedish Colony in western Pennsylvania and New York is only one year off. The organization that is planning the centennial proceeding and completion of the memorial park and boulder at Chandles Valley is progressing very satisfactorily. For the information of the large group who are members and the public at large, it is now announced that the large granite boulder was placed on the cement base last Saturday and a so-called stone artist is working part time trimming off the stone to proper proportions. A contract has been let for the filling of the park with top dirt, setting out shrubbery, laying out walks and other work of beautifying the site. It is expected that all will be complete this year after which the way will be clear to plan the date of dedication and arrange the program to take place some time next year.

COLE HILL

Cole Hill, July 9—Stanley Leofsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Leofsky, of Mickie Hill was injured while driving a tractor and was taken to Warren Hospital Saturday afternoon. The accident happened while Mr. Leofsky was mowing grass for his brother, W. C. Leofsky at Garland.

Mr. and Mrs. Loraine Turner of Torpedo were visiting her father, Wm. Parker who was seriously sick at Warren Hospital Saturday.

Leonard Eastman of this place and Lavern Benedict of Riss Hill while walking in the woods killed a rattlesnake three and a half feet long, having eight rattles.

Miss Edna Eastman of Corry was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eastman last Saturday.

Mrs. Ethel Hannah, Mrs. Blanche Holmes and daughters Patricia and Caroline and Miss Miss Juanita Turner of Torpedo attended the Sunday school picnic of the Wesleyan Methodist church at Pittsfield Saturday.

FAMOUS WOMAN WILD ANIMAL TRAINER COMING WITH CIRCUS

Mrs. Harriett Beatty, wife of the famous Clyde Beatty, king of all wild animal trainers, not to be outdone by her famous husband, presents a wild animal display of her own conception, only act of its kind in the world.

This very pretty, very petite, very blond young woman is one of the few successful wild animal trainers that the circus world has ever known and her presentation of a huge Asiatic elephant and Royal Bengal tiger working together in perfect harmony in the big steel cage has never been duplicated—any men trainers have tried to train tigers to ride on elephants back and failed but under her famous husband's tutoring the one and only, Clyde Beatty, Harriett at last succeeded in training these two natural jungle enemies to obey her commands. This and countless other features will be seen when the great Clyde Beatty Trained Wild Animal Circus come to Warren Thurs. July 12, South Side circus grounds.

Heading his own circus entirely new this season, Clyde Beatty, king of all wild animal trainers, appearing in person at every performance with his sensational

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benedict and family of Ross Hill, Mrs. Blanche Holmes and daughters Patricia and Caroline and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hannah of Torpedo were at Celoron Wednesday evening and saw the fireworks.

Cottage Prayer meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Holmes Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Martin and son Harold were Youngsville shoppers Friday evening.

Mrs. Bernal Holmes received a letter from her husband who has occupation duty in Germany for six months or a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth Holmes and children, Marion, Alice and Gordon, of the Garland-Torpedo road visited Mrs. Allie Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson and family of Kane, and Mr. and Mrs. Noah Holmes of Halsey, Pa., last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Merl Gibbons and family of Erie, Andy Gibbons of Columbus, Ohio, Miss Lila McDaniels of Pittsfield were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Holmes at their home on the Garland-Torpedo road last week.

wild animal display, fighting 30 jungle-bred lions and tigers, of both sexes, has surrounded himself with nearly 250 arena stars and performers, cream of the circus talent, presenting a kaleidoscopic array of thrill after thrill in three rings, in the air and on the hippodrome oval, spangland names nationally known dot the program from beginning to end.

As a prelude to this year's circus performances a radiant new spectacle of color and beauty in glorious processional pageantry, "United Nations on Parade," in which scores of dazzling costumed men, women and animals take part.

The performances will be given at 3:00 and 8:00 p. m. with main gates being open one hour earlier in each instance, thus allowing leisurely inspection of the menagerie, horse fair and visit the side shows.

UNINSURED MOTORISTS MUST DEPOSIT FUNDS FOR DAMAGE

Uninsured motorists involved in accidents will have to deposit money with the state revenue department to cover damages under a new commonwealth law, which became effective yesterday. When an accident occurs the revenue secretary will estimate damages and the operator, if he carries no liability insurance, will have to put up enough money to cover costs or his license will be suspended. The funds will be held by the commonwealth until the case is settled, when they will be paid to the person who suffered damages or returned to the depositor, depending upon which one is adjudged responsible for the accident.

I'm glad I canned in '44
This year I'm canning even more

"You bet I canned in '44—this year I'm canning even more of these nutritious fruits, vegetables and meats. I'm going to make sure that my family and I will have sufficient food to carry us through the winter by canning as much as I can grow, buy and prepare."

Whether you preserve by the hot water bath, pressure cooker method or oven-canning, you will find your Gas range will help make canning a comparatively simple task : : : and one that will give you better, more nutritious meals—will cut your household budget and will help you make a real contribution toward winning the war against the Japs.

So let's start . . . soon—For guidance on how to home-can by any of the accepted methods, call the Home Service Department of your gas company—they will be glad to advise you.
